OUR STORY

Peter Leith, Director

With a background in farming and construction, Kiwi Cattlestops started specialising in cattlestops around 1994. We are the leaders in single pipe technology (a design which has since been adopted by other manufacturers) unlike the solid grate configuration it allows individual pipes to be removed quickly.

A Kiwi Cattlestop is ideal to keep your straying stock off public roads (which can now result in being sued should there be an accident), or to protect your beautiful garden from wandering stock. Our product is not only superior but excellent value for money. We are a dedicated small business, typical of NZ ingenuity, bred from a farming background.

Our customers include: the NZ Army, Regional Councils, Department of Conservation, forestry companies and developers along with hundreds of farmers and lifestyleers.

A Kiwi Cattlestop is the preferred choice as quality need cost no more.
